

Environmental Sustainability Declaration by the Climate Platform

We, the Climate Platform,

acknowledge that environmental sustainability is an urgent and critical issue that demands immediate action. As an organization committed to addressing climate change, we recognize our responsibility to promote sustainable practices that protect our planet and future generations. We declare our commitment to the following principles of environmental sustainability:

- 1) Protecting the Earth's natural resources: We recognize that the Earth's natural resources are finite and that our current consumption patterns are unsustainable. We are committed to preserving and protecting the Earth's forests, oceans, and other natural resources for future generations.
- 2) Reducing greenhouse gas emissions: We acknowledge that greenhouse gas emissions are the primary cause of climate change and its devastating effects on the planet. We are committed to reducing our carbon footprint by promoting clean energy, energy efficiency, and sustainable transportation.
- 3) Promoting sustainable agriculture and food systems: We recognize that agriculture and food systems are significant contributors to greenhouse gas emissions and environmental degradation. We are committed to promoting sustainable agricultural practices that prioritize soil health, biodiversity, and regenerative farming.
- 4) Building resilient communities: We acknowledge that climate change disproportionately affects marginalized communities and exacerbates existing social inequalities. We are committed to promoting social and environmental justice by building resilient communities that can adapt to the impacts of climate change.
- 5) Fostering global cooperation: We recognize that environmental sustainability is a global issue that requires global cooperation. We are committed to fostering international collaboration and supporting policies that promote sustainable development and address climate change.

We pledge to work to achieve these goals and hold ourselves accountable for our actions. We believe that environmental sustainability is not only essential for the health and well-being of our planet but also crucial for ensuring a prosperous and just future for all.
